HENRY B. HARRIS PRESENTS
The Comedy Success of the Century

The Traveling Salesman

A Comedy in Four Acts by James Forbes
Author of "The Chorus Lady" and "The Commuters"

Fresh from its record-breaking runs in New York, Boston and Chicago.

It will be interpreted here by a cast of unusual excellence, containing Mark Smith, Dallas Tyler, Doan Borup, Diana Huneker, George M. DeVere, Marion Stephenson, Mark Price, Felix Krembs, Emmett Shackleford, Gideon Burton, Charles Richmond and others.

beautified. The figures, some draped scantily and others not at all, are shaped in black on a white surface in changeable poses with daringly artistic effect. The Johnnies in the play tear down the cloth and capture the concealed models. The Johnnies in the parquet keep their seats in dazed delight, without riotous outbreak.

Casting about for a reason why Edwin M. Shepard shouldn't go to the senate from New York, Charles F. Murphy, of Tammany hall, has discovered that Mr. Shepard is a corporation lawyer. It's a fortunate thing for Mr. Murphy that he is minus a sense of humor; some of the little things he gets off would cause another joker to laugh himself to death before he could get it out of his system.

There is one man who doesn't believe in this

AUGUSTA GLOSE

Miss Glose is featured on next week's bill at the Orpheum. Infernal rot about Taft going back on his friends. His name is Ballinger, and his present address is Washington, D. C.

Francisco Madero's estates in Mexico have been confiscated, and Diaz will make a Colorado Madero out of Francisco if ever he lays hands on him.

The fall in the price of meat, foretold by J. Ogden Armour some time ago, has not yet been noticed by the consumer. J. Ogden is of that variety of armor known as triple plate. He certainly has a rind.

WHY NOT YOU?

Your 4 Per Cent Interest Will Increase Your Savings.
